C-Sharp Mapping for Data Members in Local Types

Data members on local Slice types (classes, exceptions and structs) are mapped to C# just like the data members of the corresponding non local Slice construct.

A local Slice type can have a data member of type local interface or class: it is mapped a C# data member with the mapped C# interface or class as its type.